Nativity Update

Dear Parents and Carers,

I hope this finds you well and that you had a good weekend. A quick update on the Nativity...

Firstly, a huge thank you to the parents and carers of children in 2 Willow who responded so brilliantly to our request for the children to be tested over the weekend. Your co-operation is really appreciated and you have 'saved' the Nativity for everyone by helping us to prove that there has not been a big outbreak in the class.

So, unless there is an unforeseen outbreak of cases, the Nativity is all good to go. We can assume it will go ahead as planned.

We are asking that all adults attending wear a face covering. This is to protect others adults present, the children and the staff. We have some visiting adults, children and staff with clinical vulnerability and need to do all we can to protect them. Staff are not able to wear face coverings as they need to communicate with and prompt the children. Part of our union agreed risk assessment for vulnerable staff is that we will support them by wearing masks around them. Even if you personally do not value masks as a form of protection, they do make many others feel less anxious and to wear one here would be the supportive, kind thing to do.

Staff and children have worked incredibly hard in very challenging circumstances to put on the Nativity. We have been desperate to put this on for you as a step on the road to 'normality'. We know that everyone really missed the Nativity last year and are delighted to have it back. It has been a 'close run thing' to get the go ahead to put it on. We hope you will enjoy it!
